Greetings Compatriot!

As a compatriot of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution you are a part of the largest male lineal society in the United States. NSSAR is dedicated to furthering understanding of the American Revolution and its significance past, present, and future. SAR is chartered by the United States Congress and signed into law by Compatriot President Teddy Roosevelt.

The mission of this manual is twofold:

- To help new members gain an enhanced sense of what it means to be part of SAR and to help them better understand the heritage they have inherited.
- This mission extends to existing members, serving as a ready reference to facilitate their ongoing participation, involvement, and contribution.

NSSAR's objectives include inspiring respect for the founding American principles and leadership; also, fostering patriotism for our great country. Hopefully, this Compatriot Manual supports those objectives and helps each compatriot of our chapter to be a worthy Son of the American Revolution.

Much of the information contained herein has been drawn and edited from NSSAR resources including SAR New Member Manual, SAR New Member Orientation Workbook.

Graphics herein have been drawn from website designer Bill Wilson's works and from the copyrighted works of Mr. Don Troiani, a traditional academic realist painter, internationally recognized for his extremely accurate historical military paintings, mostly of the Civil War and the American Revolution. Our chapter gratefully acknowledges their contributions.

This manual is perpetually maintained and revised by our chapter as NSSAR and SCSSAR update their materials and new information becomes available. Please submit corrections and suggestions to:

SAR Purpose

SAR honors our Revolutionary War patriot ancestors by promoting patriotism, serving our communities, and educating and inspiring future generations about the founding principles of our Country.

SAR is the largest male lineage organization in the United States and consists of 50 state-level societies with more than 500 local chapters, several international societies (including Canada, France, Germany, Mexico, Spain, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom), and over 33,000 members. Prominent SAR members include sixteen U.S. presidents, U.S. senators and representatives, local business, and community leaders, as well as foreign dignitaries including Sir Winston Churchill, and Kings Juan Carlos I and Felipe VI of Spain.

SAR members have also answered their country's call in every major American conflict beginning with the battle of Lexington and Concord on April 19, 1775, and continuing to the present day, including Operation Desert Storm, Bosnia, and the recent actions in Afghanistan and Iraq. SAR members have received the highest awards America can bestow, including the Medal of Honor.

Being an SAR member involves you in your local community by telling the story of the Founding Fathers and the creation of the United States of America. It connects you to the history of the American Revolution by a direct means in tracing your lineage. It allows you to connect with others who also share that same type of connection.

National Level – We work with other organizations in furthering the understanding of the American Revolution such as: The Smithsonian Institution and King's College London Partnership and Georgian Papers Programme.

State and Local Levels – Our members give speeches and presentations at various SAR and/or civic events in our communities. Additionally, Patriot graves are marked by local chapters at the request of descendants.

PATRIOTIC GOALS

- We will work tirelessly to inspire the community with the principles on which our nation was founded. Many chapters and state-level societies have color guards that wear Revolutionary War uniforms and participate in civic and patriotic events and observances such as the Fourth of July, Veterans Day, Armed Forces Day, Flag Day, Patriots Day, Bill of Rights Day, Yorktown Day, Constitution Day, and important battles of the Revolutionary War. Each year the SAR National Congress passes resolutions to stimulate personal and national action based on these principles.
- We strive to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom. In 1994, the SAR formed a Task Force to Preserve U.S. History to help focus public attention on profound problems in some proposed national standards for teaching pre-college U.S. history.

- We will work to carry out the promises expressed in the Preamble to the Constitution.
- We shall provide recognition for public service. The state-level societies and chapters of the SAR present thousands of awards each year to law enforcement officers, public safety officers, and other citizens who exemplify the best civic traditions of our nation. This includes young men and women who are leaders in our communities: high-ranking high school students of history, Eagle Scouts, JROTC cadets, and midshipmen.
- This organization shall strive to honor, respect, and support the sacrifices of our veterans, especially those confined to residential and hospital facilities provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs.

HISTORIC GOALS

- We commemorate and provide memorials for the people and events of the American Revolution.
- We shall preserve records relating to the events leading up to and during the American Revolution. The SAR was a major force behind the construction of the National Archives in Washington, D.C., and the collection of historic documents therein.
- We support genealogical research and presentations (books, articles, and presentations) related to the history and people of the period from 1750 until 1800. The National SAR Magazine publishes authoritative descriptions of historical events in a quality magazine of archival value. Our Revolutionary War Graves Committee published information on some 54,000 grave sites of patriots in the SAR Revolutionary War Graves Register, published in 1993. More names have been collected and the entire 140,000 names and locations have now been published. The Patriot Index Committee is publishing information on 732,000 patriots and their descendants.

EDUCATION GOALS

- We enthusiastically sponsor youth awards programs, including essay and oration contests for students, based on historical and patriotic themes.
- We distribute history curriculum and educational media resources across the country.
- We inform the community about the events and philosophical bases of the American Revolution and the Constitution. Important events and persons of the Revolutionary period are portrayed for students and the public at large.
- We help people locate and evaluate genealogical records. The SAR's state-level society and chapter registrars have excellent resources, and the SAR Genealogical Research Library is a major national repository of genealogical information.

SAR History

www.sar.org

In 1876, there were many celebrations to commemorate the centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence July 4, 1776. As part of this patriotic fervor, a group of men in the San Francisco, California, area who were descendants of patriots involved in the American Revolution, formed an organization called the Sons of Revolutionary Sires. Their objective was to have a fraternal and civic society to salute those men and women who pledged their lives, fortunes, and sacred honor to the battle for independence from Great Britain. The Sons of Revolutionary Sires desired to keep alive their ancestors' story of patriotism and courage in the belief that it would inspire and sustain succeeding generations when they would have to defend and extend our freedoms against tyranny.

In 1883, the New York Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was organized by John Austin, this could be traced as the founding of the Sons of the American Revolution. William Osborn McDowell with Josiah Pumpelly and William Stryker, all who were members of the New York Society, organized the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1889. They refused to accept being subordinate to the New York Society. After approaching other states to organize societies, the Sons of the American Revolution were organized at the Fraunces Tavern in New York on April 30, 1889, the centennial of George Washington's inauguration.

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was incorporated on January 17, 1890, in Connecticut, with the first National Congress on April 30, 1890, in Louisville, Kentucky. The National Society was chartered by an Act of the United States Congress June 9, 1906. The charter was signed by President Theodore Roosevelt, who was also a member of the Empire State Society, SAR. The charter authorizes the granting of charters to societies of the various states and territories and authorizes the state-level societies to charter chapters within their borders. Federal Legislation then established a federal charter for the National Society, SAR.

We have used the acronym SAR to identify ourselves for over one hundred years. The SAR was conceived as a fraternal and civic society composed of lineal descendants of the patriots who wintered at Valley Forge, signed the Declaration of Independence, fought in the battles of the American Revolution, served in the Continental Congress, or otherwise supported the cause of American Independence.

SAR Organization Structure

The National Society is organized into State Societies. Membership in the National Society Sons of the American is through a State Society—there are no National at-large memberships in SAR. State Societies are organized into Chapters which is the level through which membership is attained. State Societies receive their charters from the National Society which is chartered by an act of the United States Congress (36 U.S.C. Chap. 1533). State Societies and Chapters which are chartered by State Societies must comply with all National Society policies which are outlined in the multivolume SAR Handbook. State Societies are further organized by the National Society into Districts for cooperation and mutual support of the National Society’s mission. All members are required to pay annual Chapter, State, and National dues to retain membership.

Pledges, Creed, and Recessional

Pledge of Allegiance

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America, as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon these principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

Pledge to the Flag of South Carolina

I salute the flag of South Carolina and pledge to the Palmetto State love, loyalty, and faith.

SAR Pledge

We descendants of the heroes of the American Revolution who, by their sacrifices, established the United States of America, reaffirm our faith in the principles of liberty and our constitutional Republic, and solemnly pledge ourselves to defend them against every foe.

SAR Recessional

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us our Constitution, the Bill of Rights, an independent Supreme Court, and a Nation of Free Men.

Noteworthy Patriots' Quotes

Benjamin Franklin, 1759 - They that can give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety.

John Adams, 1775 - A Constitution of Government once changed from Freedom, can never be restored. Liberty, once lost, is lost forever.

Thomas Paine, 1776 - These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman.

Samuel Adams, 1779 - A general dissolution of principles and manners will more surely overthrow the liberties of America than the whole force of the common enemy.

Noah Webster, 1788 - Every child in America should be acquainted with his own country...As soon as he opens his lips, he should rehearse [its] history.

George Washington, 1789 - Your love of liberty — your respect for the laws — your habits of industry — and your practice of the moral and religious obligations, are the strongest claims to national and individual happiness.

James Madison, 1798 - The right of freely examining public characters and measures, and of free communication among the people thereon...has ever been justly deemed the only effectual guardian of every other right.

Alexander Hamilton, 1788 - The injury which may possibly be done by defeating a few good laws, will be amply compensated by the advantage of preventing a number of bad ones.

South Carolina Society

On 18 April 1889, twenty-five men met in the State House in Columbia, South Carolina, for the purpose of considering the forming of a state society dedicated to perpetuating the patriotic ideals that had led to the American Revolution and the founding of the United States of America. This meeting was called in response to an invitation from a special committee of the “Society of the Sons of the Revolution of New Jersey” to attend a meeting on 30 April 1889 (as a part of the centennial celebration of Washington’s inauguration as our first President) at the Fraunces Tavern in New York City. That day, the men decided in favor of the formation of the state society and organized by appointing officers (including delegates to attend the meeting in New York City). Governor John Peter Richardson, III, was appointed the first President of the South Carolina Society. At the New York City meeting the National Society Sons of the American Revolution was formed and the South Carolina Society was one of the eleven State Societies who had organized prior to and supported the organization of the National Society.

Godfrey Dreher Chapter chartered

By Redding I. "Rick" Corbett III, PhD
Vice President for New Chapter Formation and Development

COLUMBIA — At the Oct. 10 Board of Governors meeting, a charter was granted to the South Carolina Society's newest chapter — the Godfrey Dreher Chapter.

Previously, the petition filed by 11 founding members had been approved by the executive committee of the South Carolina Society. President General Edward F. Butler Sr. presented the charter. This is the first time that a charter has been presented by the president general to a new South Carolina Society chapter.

The Godfrey Dreher Chapter was formed after it was determined that there was sufficient interest in Lexington County and that the formation of a new chapter would not injure nearby chapters, especially the Col. Thomas Taylor Chapter in Columbia. The Col. Thomas Taylor Chapter was the sponsoring chapter for the petition.

Several members of the Godfrey Dreher Chapter will maintain dual membership with the Col. Thomas Taylor Chapter, and the presidents of each of these chapters have promised to work together for mutual benefit. It is hoped that this pledge of cooperation and its ultimate results will be a model for other chapters. Ten additional applications are in process, and a number of possible applicants have been identified.

Godfrey Dreher was one of South Carolina's many little known patriots. He was a member of the first Provincial Congress Committee, when the Battle of Lexington was fought. He was a grand juror, and also when the Revolution reached the Back Country, he built a fort on his property. The fort site is below the current Lake Murray Dam beside Zion Lutheran Church.

This chapter has a special interest in and duty to promote the Revolutionary War history of Godfrey Dreher and Lexington County.

CHARTER PRESENTATION AND OFFICER OATH

The Godfrey Dreher Chapter

Our Chapter's Namesake

Gottfried Dreher, Sr., a Wheelwright by Trade, born 6 May 1720, Erpfinden (now Sonnenbuehl), Baden Wuerttemberg, Germany, died unknown in South Carolina. Gottfried was the son of Andreas Dreher, born 21 Dec 1683, died 1727 in Meidelstetten, and wife Anna Maria Siger, born unknown, died 1723. Gottfried was the paternal grandson of Johannes Dreher, born 1626, died 28 Aug 1699, and wife Agatha Munz born, 1642, in Meidelstetten, died in Erpfinden on 1 Nov 1685. Agatha Munz was the daughter of Jacob Munz and wife Barbara _____, of Meidelstetten. Gottfried arrived in South Carolina in 1744 (believed to have arrived on the ship St Andrew 1743/4) with wife Maria Barbara _____, and one child.

He was granted 150 acres 13 March 1745, plat in name of Trayer, grant 6 June 1747, in name of Trayer. His grant was in the Saxe-Gotha Township area of present day Lexington County, South Carolina. Name of wife and child not revealed in the historical records at time of arrival.

Gottfried Dreher, Sr., erected and operated a grist mill on Twelve Mile Creek (Lexington Co, SC), a short distance from the Saluda River. Later on, he erected and operated a grist mill on the Saluda River (Lexington Co, SC) a few miles upstream from the confluence of Twelve Mile Creek with the Saluda River. The Saluda River Mill was at Dreher Shoals which is now mostly covered by the Lake Murray Dam.

Central South Carolina was experiencing the Ravages of the Cherokee War of 1757 - 1761. During the years 1759 and 1760, the people in Saxe Gotha suffered the ravages of the Cherokee War. About 1759, Gottfried Dreher, Sr., erected a fort near Twelve Mile Creek to provide refuge for local citizenry during the Cherokee Indian hostilities.

Gottfried Dreher, Sr., a miller, gave patriotic service during the American Revolution. Although not a member of the American Militia, he gave patriotic service by providing provisions (flour, corn, beef, pork and other items) to the Patriot Forces per Audited Accounts for Revolutionary War Service, No. 348. The Godfrey Dreher Chronicles

While our chapter was named for Godfrey Dreher, Sr., his son Godfrey Dreher, Jr. could certainly have qualified as our namesake. Indeed, both Patriots made contributions to the founding of our country. And his grandson, Godfrey Walter Dreher III certainly made notable contributions to the life of the Lexington area in later years though his Lutheran ministry that introduced services in English.

Below is information we have discovered that discusses each and their contributions. This information will be under perpetual maintenance and updated as more information is discovered.
